Are you ready to move through the changing world with skill and finesse and surpass others' expectations? To magnify your creativity and think like an entrepreneur? To generate momentum toward a future you may never have considered before?

Patricia Hoy is a dynamic speaker and energetic consultant who engages, educates, and inspires audiences with the synthesis of years of administrative, management, and leadership experience combined with a significant career in the arts helping universities, public schools, nonprofits, corporations, and associations create new ways of seeing how creativity is key in a rapidly changing world. She constructs a forward thinking environment that challenges us all to think in new ways.

Popular Presentation Topics

Inquire, Imagine, Innovate

Use your imagination to generate possibility, question what is conceivable, create momentum, and expand your reality.

The Best Practice IS the Practice

Work with what you have. Look for growth in every experience and think holistically to achieve your goals. Enhance your understanding of the world and share that knowledge with others.

Thriving Together

Transform your life, school, organization, and community. With all that's going on in the world, we could all benefit from a vibrant, healthier, and happier society.

What's the Point?

Step back, look at the points of time, and see the whole picture more clearly. Do great things by bringing a series of smaller things together.

Obstacles and Opportunity

Solve problems creatively—with boldness, courage, and focus. Transform your experiences and those in the world around you.

Singin' the Blues

Develop an awareness of how you lead and interact with others. There is an abundance of options, whether you're feeling green, in the pink, or singin' the blues.

This is just a sampling of the topics and their benefits that Patricia speaks on. She will work with you to open up new insights, perceptions, and breakthroughs with topics customized around creative concepts to meet your needs.

With nearly thirty years' experience in a variety of management and leadership roles and a lifetime of working with the creative process, Dr. Patricia Hoy helps clients explore realities, imagine possibilities, and create momentum toward a future that honors her clients' individual and collective needs. As a curious lifelong learner and thought leader, she energizes and enlivens audiences to value the changes, opportunities, and possibilities that are now central to thriving in the 21st century. Her ability to convey her message lets audiences learn easily and get motivated to take action toward their goals.

As an administrator, she has had success in galvanizing large numbers of people in organizations to work toward common goals and break down barriers that have limited them for years. Her greatest strength is to imagine the possibilities and create the momentum to realize full potential using many of the principles based on her Arts Awareness creative concepts.
